

LUSCIOUSLY LUSTROUS

You can be sure that your hair is the mane attraction this summer with an exclusive new thickening service from Inanch

No matter how trivial it might seem, waking up with bad hair can put a negative spin on the rest of the day. And for those who suffer from lank or thinning hair, the bad hair days can outnumber the good – after all, there’s only so much that thickening products and hair-pieces can do to boost your confidence...

Now though, London’s leading hair extension expert, Inanch Emir (above, left), is offering a new solution at her luxurious salon. When Fabric dropped in for a consultation, celeb-favourite Inanch explained that; “Hairdreams offer optimal hair thickening methods to give clients back their natural volume, with amazing results.”

“The Hairdreams Volume+ system encompasses a variety of methods for adding natural-looking fullness and volume to fine or thinning hair. From the most advanced MicroLines treatment, where a full hairnet of hair is permanently fixed to the client’s existing hair, to the easily removable TopHair system, whether the problem is slight or severe, there’s something for every style and hair type.”

Each client is offered a bespoke solution, so book in now for a free consultation with Inanch to discuss your options. Prices start from £630, but throughout the summer months, Fabric readers can enjoy a 15% introductory discount on any Hairdreams hair thickening service booked at the salon before the end of September.
